

Why is good competition always bad for the companies that have the money. Is it greed or the worry that the big company will fail or lose money. I was under the impression that today's economy was built on free trade and the right of the consumer to choose what they want to use. XM Satellite Radio is a great option for my listening needs. I still use AM and FM radio, but don't like the advertising. I'm happy to pay for satellite service and the quality that it avails me. I have five (5) XM receivers and enjoy being able to use them at all times during my travels as well as at home. I live in an area that does not have the best radio reception so XM Satellite allows me to listen to what I want when I want.

NAB should not be allowed to take this choice away from me. Please reject NAB's petition "04-160" and allow me to choose the kind of programming I want.
